London

What better place to start than at London's most famous attraction!
Buckingham Palace. Between June and October parts of the palace are open to the public, but at other times of the year you can catch the colourful Changing of the Guard, which takes place in the forecourt at 11.30 am daily in the summertime, and on alternate days throughout the rest of the year.

If you have spare time, toss in a stroll at the royal Hyde Park, just a walk away from Buckingham Palace.

The Houses of Parliament and Big Ben cannot be missed in London, be sure to see them. Parliament allows people to sit in on sessions, but lines can be long in tourist season.

Westminster Abbey is worth the visit, but you need at least an hour to explore and during peak times it will be at least an hour wait to get in. Go before breakfast! ....
